

University of New Haven

Position: Adjunct Faculty in Psychology & Sociology
Department: College of Arts & Sciences
Search #22- PSYCHSOCADJ

The University of New Haven invites applications for adjunct instructor positions in Psychology & Sociology for Fall 2022

The positions support the instructional needs of the Psychology and Sociology Department in teaching. Instructors would teach one or more psychology OR sociology courses, depending upon their qualifications.

We have a particular need for instructors in Statistics, Research Methods, Sport Psychology, Physiological Psychology, and Theories of Personality.

Instructors are needed for on-the-ground classes only. At this time, the University is prioritizing on-the-ground instruction, with protections and social distancing in place.

Preferred applicants would have excellent written and oral communication skills, and a Master's or PhD in psychology. At least one year of college level teaching is also preferred. Experience with instructional technology, using web based instructional software, or other learning management systems is a plus.

University of New Haven Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Belonging Vision

The University of New Haven is a diverse institution that celebrates, respects, and values individuals of all social identities. We believe that as members of the university community, our socio-cultural differences ignite intellectual growth and foster a culture of understanding that embraces our ever-changing society.

How to Submit:

Submit cover letter, curriculum vitae, a one-page teaching statement, a list of courses previously taught, and two letters of reference via email to Dr. Kento Yahuhara, Assistant Chair, Psychology and Sociology, kyasuhara@newhaven.edu. Interviews via Zoom will be ongoing until positions are filled. The University of New Haven is an equal opportunity employer. Please include Search#22 PSYCHSOCADJ in the subject line of all emails to ensure proper delivery. Interviews will be ongoing until positions are filled.

University of New Haven is an Equal Opportunity Employer