

The University of New Haven has an opening for a one-year non-tenure track Lecturer position in Music beginning Fall 2013. Candidates should possess a graduate degree in music and a record of excellence in teaching undergraduate upper-division European art music theory, analysis, history and musicianship courses to music majors. Applicants who are qualified to organize and direct ensembles in American music traditions are preferred.

Submit cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching and research statements, evidence of teaching experience (including course syllabi and student feedback if available), and the names and contact information of three references to Search #13-37 Human Resources Department, University of New Haven, 300 Boston Post Road, West Haven, CT 06516 or via email to hrdept@newhaven.edu (electronic submission is strongly encouraged). Review of applications will begin on immediately and continue until the position is filled.

The University of New Haven is a private, top-tier comprehensive university recognized as a national leader in experiential education. Founded in 1920, the University has an 80-acre main campus, along with satellite campuses located throughout the state and abroad. UNH has an enrollment of approximately 6,400, including nearly 1,800 graduate students and more than 4,600 undergraduates - the majority of whom reside in University housing. The University offers 75 undergraduate and graduate degree programs in the arts and sciences, business, criminal justice, engineering and forensic sciences. Conveniently located near downtown New Haven, the University provides employees with a comprehensive benefit package and a professional, productive and pleasant work environment. Women and minority candidates are encouraged to apply.