

September 25, 2009

This is an exciting time for both the University of New Haven and the forensic science program. This new home for the Institute of Forensic Science will provide students with the most cutting edge of technologies – ensuring that the University’s program will continue to be a national model. I have been proud to work with the University to access federal dollars to enhance the opportunities the program offers.

We could not be more fortunate than to have such a celebrated figure as Dr. Henry Lee call Connecticut home. He has, almost single-handedly, brought an excitement to the field of forensic science which has translated into an avid popularity for the program. I have no doubt that the new Henry C. Lee Institute will provide the newest generation of forensic scientists with the education and hands-on experience they need to make a real difference in our law enforcement community.”

*Congresswoman Rosa L. DeLauro
Representing Connecticut’s Third District*