Deep Accountability: Creating
Clear Agreements
in Your Business & Family

presented by
DramaWorks InterActive

We are happy to bring back CFB favorite DramaWorks InterActive who will work/play with us around the value of "Accountability." You will learn the core behaviors that are essential for emotional intelligence in your relationships and begin a process of identifying and practicing those behaviors.

DramaWorks will create a scenario that is built on the needs and experience of CFB members. They will lead a discussion around the dynamics within and between each of the characters.

Finally, everyone will get a chance to practice and rewrite the scenario.

DramaWorks players are masters at surfacing the human dynamics that keep us stuck in old patterns, and at working with groups like ours to come up with new solutions using the "wisdom of the crowd".

If you have not attended one of their previous events, you won't want to miss this program. For those familiar with DramaWorks InterActive, we hope you'll bring others to share in this unique experience!

Dealing With Life Transitions
in Your Family Business

presented by
William O. Roberts, Jr.

Transitions are always a challenge, but when life transitions combine with transitions within the family business, the challenges compound.

Bill Roberts will provide insight into managing transitions in your family business while simultaneously dealing with life's age-related transitions - adolescence, mid-life and the elder passage. Bill will provide techniques for managing these transitions in both the family and your business.

This session will include interactive discussions about navigating through two of life's major transitions.

No family is immune from facing age-related transitions. We encourage you to invite family members and key employees to attend this session with you, to help you to be better prepared to handle all of life's many transitions and their effects on your family business.

Your Business Is At Risk!
Evaluating Acceptable Levels of Risk and Protection

presented by Michael Wanik

Michael Wanik, Vice President of Consulting and Investigation for CFB Member SSC, is an expert on Corporate Security.

Michael will share techniques utilized by corporate America to ensure the operational continuity and profitability of their businesses. Michael will focus on four key risk areas: people, process, technology, and the work environment. He will guide you toward intelligent analysis and decision making regarding risk reduction.

While you cannot totally eliminate risk, Michael will demonstrate how decisions you make regarding protection can minimize impact to your business. He will place you in a better position to decide whether to accept, avoid, transfer or mitigate risk.

Michael will explain how risk management allows for acceptable risk, and how sometimes companies that take acceptable risks are rewarded. We encourage you to invite your management team to join you for this presentation.
