A Message from the Alumni Association President

If you are looking to expand your contacts, whether for job-related or social reasons, I have a tool that could be useful to you. The Alumni Association is partnering with Harris Connect, a well-respected company, to compile a fully updated alumni directory. These directories are immensely helpful in a number of different ways. Whether you want to find an old classmate, a contact for a job, or even a long-lost love, they are wonderful sources of current information on UNH graduates with whom you've lost touch.

Expect to be contacted yourself — to update your own information — over the next few months, either by phone, email or regular mail. All communications will clearly be identified as University of New Haven inquiries. I strongly encourage you to respond so you'll be included in the directory. If you are a job-seeking alumnus, this is one tool that could be helpful in connecting with potential employers, especially in this challenging job market.
