Collaborate in the Library!

Many students and faculty know the library as a place to get help with research from a librarian, enjoy a silent place on the upper level to concentrate and study, or to make use of one of the many computers and printers.

However, the library has made great strides to become a prime location on campus for students to meet in groups for collaborative work. In addition to providing collaborative spaces, the library provides many whiteboards for student use. Erasable markers can be borrowed from the library information desk with your student ID. Come enjoy working in the library with your fellow students!

Library Faculty Workshop Series

Workshops for Faculty Spring 2018

Workshops are held in Room 213 at 12:30 pm in the Library unless otherwise noted. Bring your laptop or charge one out at the library circulation desk to use for the duration of the session (Current University of New Haven ID required).

"Class Librarian Program" - A class librarian is a librarian who works with your class to teach students how to find and evaluate information resources needed for research in your class. Find out how this program works and how it can contribute to student success in your classes. If you've never worked with a librarian, this is the workshop for you!	1/18/18	12:30
"Frameworks for Information Literacy" - Information Literacy Librarians at the University of New Haven base their teaching on standards set by the professional association the "Association of College & Research Libraries". Come learn how we apply these concepts to our classroom teaching to foster student success.	2/8/18	12:30
"Open Educational Resources" - Unlike copyrighted materials, Open Educational Resources are educational materials that are developed to be freely used and shared. A librarian will review what these resources are, where you can find them and why you should consider using them.	2/22/18	12:30
"Copyright & Fair Use" - Are you interested in using e-Reserves for your classes or just want to know more about what is considered fair use? A Librarian will review the basic principles and answer your questions.	3/8/18	12:30
"Promoting Your Publications" - How can you share your published work – with colleagues, students and the world? Learn several options for widening your audience and tracking your citations. Get started with Digital Commons @ New Haven as part of the workshop. Authors and future authors are welcome.	3/22/18	12:30
"Finding a Publisher" - Be careful where you submit your work. Learn to identify reputable publishers and avoid scammers.	4/12/18	12:30
"Obtaining Journal Articles through the Library" - Covers the different methods of obtaining the journal articles you need. Among these methods are Databases, Interlibrary Loan and Science Direct.	4/26/18	12:30

Spring 2018 Library Workshops   - Library Workshops are open to the entire University of New Haven Community.
